WEDNESDAY HIGHLIGHTS

APRIL 2: ASSASSINATION INVESTIGATION BUREAU CONFERENCE
The AIB is seeking to establish a political movement to thwart the question of who killed John F. Kennedy into the political spotlight as a presidential issue in 1976. The February the group brought together in Boston groups concerned with exposing a spectrum of central concerns.
The conference veered from documented presentations to questionable allegations. As times references of paranoia surfaced, on occasion we added voice to what was already a rather heady mixture.
Workshops on organized crime and domestic intelligence focus on the politics of conspiracy. Specific subjects included JFK, BFK, Martin Luther King, the Wallace Shooting, Chappaquiddick and Watergate.

APRIL 9: TOSCANINI CONDUCTS
Arturo Toscanini and the NBC Symphony Orchestra during the years that they were heard on the airways in America, probably contributed more to the general appreciation of serious music in this country than all the writers, reviewers, critics, and commentators put together. His performances are remarkable for technical excellence and his interpretations (a term he probably would not have used) of those composers he found congenial — Beethoven, Brahms, Wagner, Debussy, Berlioz — were models of clarity and revelation.
*Our tribute features a number of rare, out of print performances (indicated by ), & some actual broadcast concerts from Studio 8-H and Carnegie Hall in New York. Introduced by H. Interspersed will be reminiscences and recollections from several musicians who knew and worked with "The Maestro."

APRIL 16: FOOD DAY
At least 400 million people are hungry and some 200 million lose in every 151 may literally starve within the next year. Establishment economists tell us that the "population explosion" has resulted in too many people, that world food production has not kept pace with that growth, that ecological disasters (floods and drought) and political mismanagement have intensified the problems. The "Green Revolution" appears to create new crises.
Consumer advocates and radical analysts point to monopoly control of food production and distribution and the imbalance in preferences in the Third World.
A national Food Day on April 17 is being organized at the initiative of the Center For Science in the Public Interest. Consumer groups, unions, welfare rights and student organizations throughout the nation will participate. Today we preview the issues.

APRIL 23: A DAY FOR DYLAN THOMAS
He wrote "For the lovers," he warned us not to go "gentle into that good night," he showed us the synagogue in an ear of corn, and while "time held them green and dying that sang in third chains like the sea." He greet unforgettable poetry and the resonance of a Welsh choir.
Dylan Thomas made language alive again as sound, he restored the poem as spoken art. He journeyed across America, the first of a new breed of troubador poets. The Broadfms packets spent with him, and he returned each. He smelled of whiskey, he lusted promiscuously. All his appetites were too excessive for the road halls. Students and artists loved him, it took death to make him respectable.
The oldest tape in our archives is a reading Thomas drew in the early 1950's. Given the nebulans history of Pacifica, it seems an appropriate legacy.

APRIL 30: BERTOLT BRECHT
A more unlikely poet has probably not yet lived in Santa Monica, but there he was, next door to a young UCLA student, Eric Bentley — on the run from the Nazis, and then finally, on the run from us.
He lived here virtually unknown except for a small circle of artists and German intellectuals. His play "Galileo," starring Charles Laughton in a John Houseman production explored on a stage on La Cienega to almost complete critical and public indifference. Seven years later "Threepenny Opera" broke all box-office records in an off-Broadway run.
He advocated stark stages and bare hanging light bulbs. His concerns were in the nature of memist political aesthetics. Expressionism became stylish. "Corruption and poverty don't get rich," said Caroline Lenya.
Today we feature the pieces, both literal and literary, in the welterschauung of Bertolt Brecht.

Film of the Month Club

By now everyone who listens to the station is aware of why the March film title was not available for that month's Folio and why the April film is being shown so early in the month. A very complicated Academy regulation concerning the screening of foreign film Academy Award nominees made negotiations for the March and April superfilms delicate and protracted and the screening possibilities highly limited.

But thanks to the generosity and cooperation of 20th Century Fox, for Lacombe, Lucien, and New World Pictures, for Amarcord, the weekend of April 5-6 will be a memorable one for the hacks Film Club members who made their reservations on time.

We regret the inconvenience to members who rarely listen to the station, and didn't hear the dozens of announcements, but prefer the option of seeing the majority with an inferior film lined in the Folio, or waiting for two truly great films, we opted for the latter. Reservations should be made by Wednesday March 26. We realize some here whose plans change in cancel their reservations. If space becomes available announcements will be made. Please do not tie up the Marathon phones with your inquiries during fundraising periods. And please remember that membership is not transferable — there's a worthy KPFK supporter waiting in the wings if you can't use your reservation.

6:30 PLAY IT AGAIN SAM: PRIME TIMES
During the past 26 years of Pacifica's existence, there have been moments when people on a tape or in front of a microphone and people in the audience, communicated. This magical experience is what makes it all worthwhile, sustains us through the economic struggles and the difficulties of both working and listening to KPFK. Every week on Saturday nights we will present those highlight moments.
